Discover your private Hudson Valley sanctuary on Bradleys Crossing Road in East Chatham, New York. Nestled in the rolling landscapes of Columbia County, this property provides the privacy and open space so many seek, yet remains conveniently located near the cultural and recreational offerings of the Berkshires and the broader Hudson Valley. Spanning a generous 33 acres, this exceptional parcel offers the rare opportunity to create your dream home in a serene, private setting. A driveway already leads to a proposed building site, ready for your future residence, while a picturesque pond enhances the natural beauty of the land--perfect for peaceful reflection, fishing, or simply enjoying the quiet countryside. Whether you envision a custom home overlooking the pond, space for gardens, trails, or simply a private retreat, this land delivers the blank canvas and established access to make it happen. Additional acreage available.
